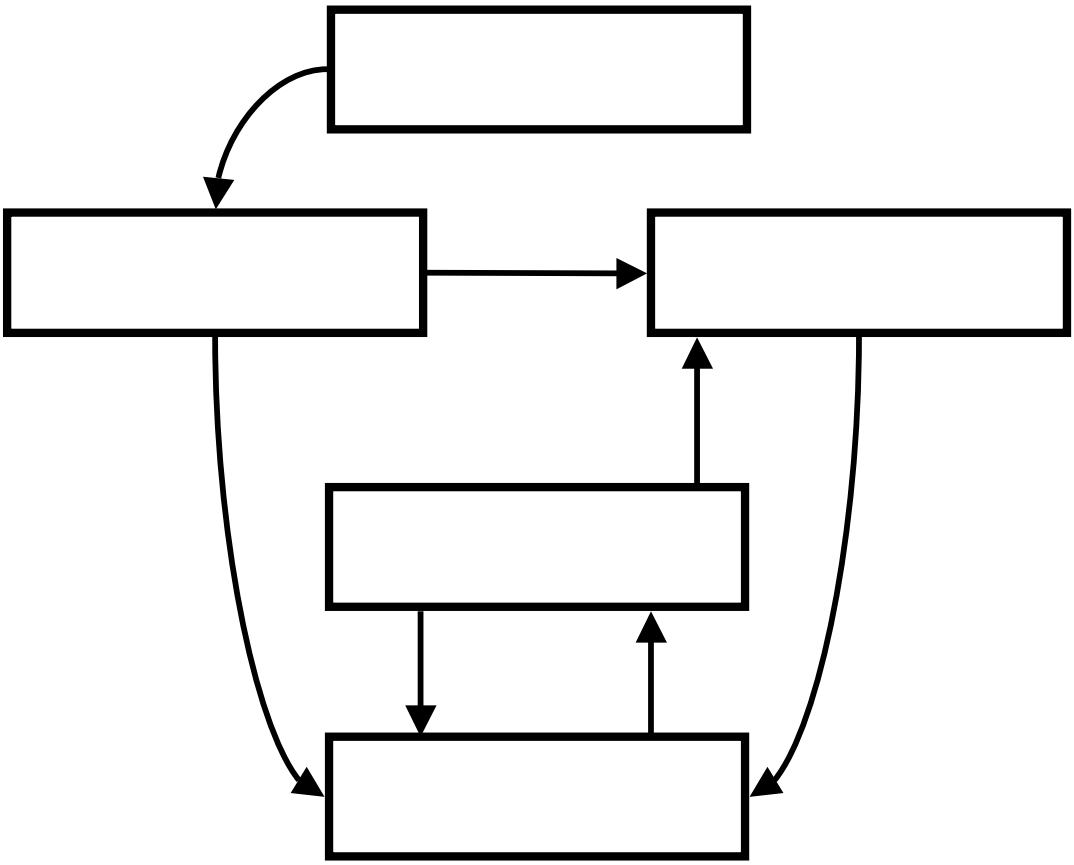
The Rock Cycle

- Shows the three main types of rocks and the major processes that create them



- Different types of rocks give us different mineral resources
- Geologists know how to identify on rock type from another
- They know the type of rock and the structures within each rock type
- With this knowledge they can advise mining companies where to search for specific minerals