

Introduction to Canadian Geography

Geography is the study of the earth's regions and the ways in which people interact with their environment. There are many specialized areas of study within this field. Several are described below with their names scrambled. Unscramble them. The first letter of each is given.

- (1) P_____ geography – Deals with boundaries of nations, provinces, states and the location of cities.
(l i l i c a t o p)
- (2) P_____ geography – Deals with landforms, climate, soil types and erosion.
(c a p s i l h y)
- (3) P_____ geography – Deals with the distribution of people, their movements and cultural characteristics.
(n a p l o u p i o t)
- (4) E_____ geography – Deals with natural resources, land utilization, the location of industries, transportation and marketing.
(c o m e n o c i)

Geography is related to many other fields of learning, some of which are described below.

- (1) The science of map making. _____ G _____
- (2) The study of the relationship of living things to each other and their environment. E _____
- (3) The study of heavenly bodies. _____ O _____
- (4) The study of the physical formation of the earth. G _____
- (5) The study of atmospheric conditions that produce weather. _____ R _____
- (6) The study of the earth's weather patterns in various regions. _____ A _____
- (7) The study of the world's cultures. _____ P _____
- (8) The study of the earth's water – precipitation, evaporation and stream flow. H _____
- (9) The study of crop production and soil management. _____ Y _____